Read the two passages and answer the questions.

My name is Marvin. I'm 11 years old. My favorite exercise is soccer. I play soccer twice a week and have soccer lessons on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. I put on shin pads to protect my legs when I play it. Although my parents are not good at soccer, they always tell me not to give up. Every Saturday morning our team usually has matches and we often win.

I'm Steve and I live in England. I'm 15 years old. I like cycling very much because I can practice it in the park. I usually go cycling for three hours every day. In winter it's difficult to go cycling because it often rains. I wear a helmet to protect my head when cycling. My parents are also good at cycling. Last year we went to Scotland by bicycle. It was fantastic! We had a lot of fun.

shin pad 護脛 although 雖然 fantastic 太棒了

(四) (47-50)

A few years ago, a British minister gave a pocket watch to the mayor of Taipei as a gift during her visit to Taiwan. The shape of the pocket watch looks like a clock. A clock is never a good gift in Taiwan because giving a clock in Chinese sounds like saying goodbye to the dead at a funeral. That is a big taboo.

When it is time to give people a gift, you should find out more about their cultural norms. People in the UK seldom give knives because they cut through a friendship. Japanese don't do that, either, because it means that people kill themselves. If you don't have time to do that, then books are good gifts because they are safe and won't hurt anyone's feelings.

Here is another example. Flowers can say a lot, but they have different meanings in different countries. Chrysanthemums are bad for the Spanish because they mean death, just like white lines for the British. Red roses are common gifts, but they are not right for a business meeting. Also, yellow roses mean cheating in France and death in Mexico. What's more, always give an odd number of flowers, but not 13 because some people think it's unlucky.

 British minister 英國部長 mayor 市長 funeral 喪禮 taboo 禁忌 cultural norm 文化規範 odd number 奇數

47. What is the reading about?

- (A) A British minister tried to make fun of the mayor of Taipei several months ago.
(B) Clocks are great gifts for people of all cultures, especially for the Chinese.
(C) People have to make sure never to give a taboo gift.
(D) Flowers have a special meaning in each country.

48. Why are books safe gifts?

- (A) They won't give people wrong ideas.
(B) They mean different things to people in different countries.
(C) People don't like books because books make them feel stupid.
(D) People give books because books break all kinds of taboos in different places.

49. “Chrysanthemums” are _____.

- (A) people (B) festivals (C) places (D) flowers

50. Which is true?

- (A) French people usually prepare 10 to 12 red roses as a show of good will.
(B) When you go to a birthday party in Mexico, don't bring yellow roses as a gift.
(C) It's fine for Japanese people to give their Chinese friends clocks on their birthday.
(D) It's a good idea to give a British friend a knife when you go to their welcome party.
