Let me tell you about a special bird called the puteketeke! It's known(聞名的) as "the Bird of the Century." This bird is from New Zealand, and it's really cool! The puteketeke has a funny-looking head. It has black feathers(羽毛) on top. These feathers stand up. It also has orange and black feathers around its face, like a hair dryer(吹風機) blowing them up! This bird does funny things, like giving water grasses to the one it likes and doing chest bumps(撞擊胸部) together. It's also a kind parent – it carries(攜帶) its chicks(雛鳥) on its back in the water. There are about a thousand puteketeke in New Zealand, not too many! I wonder if they will still be here in a hundred years. Being the Bird of the Century might help protect(保護) this funny puteketeke!

Dolphins are special animals that can help people in many ways. They are very smart and friendly. Sometimes, when people are in trouble in the sea, dolphins come to help them. Dolphins are also good at finding fish. In places like Brazil, dolphins and fishermen work together. The water there is not clean, so dolphins use sounds(聲波) to find fish and show them to the fishermen. The fishermen wait for the dolphins to find the fish and then catch them. Dolphins make it easier for the fishermen to catch fish. But dolphins need our help, too. Pollution(汙染) in the water can make it hard for them to live. So, we need to take care of them, just like they take care of us.
