Some studies show that women are twice more likely to suffer from insomnia than men. Also, insomnia tends to increase with age. Bricks, stones, and wood are the things we usually think of for building a house. However, a couple in Pintung County have built their house out of pulped newspapers. They spent a year building the house. They collected 1,300 kilograms of newspaper and used a homemade pulping machine to turn them into bricks.

Apart from building the house out of bricks made from old newspapers, they used recycled materials wherever they could; old windows frames from their mother's house and old Japanese wood from a school. Even the pulping machine was made of old rubber tires and second hand plastic buckets.

To make the bricks for the house, they pulped the newspaper and then put the pulp into molds. Then the bricks were left in the sun to dry. The couple made the entire 75m<sup>2</sup> house out of these bricks. Of course, they had to use a special paint so that the bricks would be waterproof.

Not only are the bricks waterproof, but they are also soundproof. One may think that this environmentally-friendly house could easily be blown away by a light wind. But it proved how strong it is by standing up to Typhoon Morakot in August, 2009.
