How do people know spring time is coming? For many Americans, the first sign of spring is baseball. In late winter many big league teams go to south. They go to warm states such as Florida and Arizona. There they get ready for the opening of baseball season in early April.

Each team has its own camp. The players spend long days training and getting in shape. They run, hit, throw, and catch. They learn to listen to the coaches and to work together as a team. They also play some practice games against other teams. These are called exhibition games.

Spring training camps are full of hope. New players hope to stay on the team. Other players hope to have their best baseball season. Everyone hopes to be part of a winning team.

You have a sweet tooth. You like chocolate, candy, and cake. You can't say no to them; you want them every day. They may not be good for your body, but you can't help it. What's going on with you? Well, maybe it's not you; maybe it's your brain.

With sugar in your body, your brain makes dopamine. With dopamine, you get good feelings, and your brain likes those feelings. But the dopamine in your brain is not there for long. It fades away over time. Your brain then wants more. It says to you, "You want good feelings; you want sugar." Then you want sweet food again. After some time, your brain loves sugar too much. From a small slice of cake to a big bag of chocolate, you want more and more and you can't stop it.
