Hi, Mr. Johnson,

This is Becky Lindell from Gogo Shop. I am very sorry to tell you that the notebook computer you reserved at our shop on December 6th is out of stock. This new notebook computer has been very popular since it came out this November. We can't get a new one right away. Here are three options for you to choose from. First, you can buy the sample notebook computer from our shop and get 30% off on it. Second, we can give you 20% off on any other notebook computer which is at our shop. Third, you may have to wait until next February for a new one. We are truly sorry about this. You can e-mail me, call me, or visit me at Gogo Shop to let me know your decision.

Best,

Becky Lindell

I had a really bad day yesterday. First, I was woken up by a loud noise outside my window. It was really scary. I couldn't go back to sleep after that, so I got up and got ready for school. When I went to put on my uniform, I noticed it smelled because I forgot to wash it. I didn't have another one, so I had no choice but to wear it. Then when I got on the bus, all the seats were taken, so I had to stand all the way to school. Things just got worse there. I was made fun of because of my clothes, but I didn't feel it was a laughing matter. Also, I was made to sit away from the other students, and I wasn't picked for any teams. Lastly, before I was allowed to go home, I was told not to let it happen again. At that moment, I realized it's really important to wear clean clothes, isn't it?

How do you choose a T-shirt when you're shopping? Its price, its brand, what it is made of, or how it looks on you? Have you ever thought what it may take to make a T-shirt?

When people hear about clothes factory workers in poor countries working day and night on little pay, they feel worried if their clothes are from factories of this kind. They begin to ask about how and where their clothes are made, and who makes them. The provenance of clothes has now become an important fact shoppers ask for. Some brands of clothes have listened and started to move their factories back to their home countries. There the cost of making clothes is higher, but the workers are better paid and taken good care of. Clothes of these brands are more expensive, but people don't mind paying a little more to feel right. Today these brands have even become leaders in the business.

Next time you are buying a T-shirt that feels good on your body, you may want to learn its story and see if it also feels good in your heart.
